2. The briefing of these officers concerned itself exclusively with OKCART and stressed at length the need for compartmentation within the United States Government and, particularly, within the United States Navy. They were told their contact or reference point would be [REDACTED] [REDACTED] They were also informed that their correspondence on the Program at West Palm Beach would have to document the indirect funding program that now exists. At some future time, a public explanation for the use of the J-58 engine would be firmed, and they would then be required to backstop appropriate areas.
